CPR and First Aid Training Program

A CPR (Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation) and First Aid Training Program was organized for the teaching and non-teaching staff of Suman Madhav Mahila Mahavidyalaya, Zari, Nanded, at Shankarrao Chavan Government Medical College, Vishnupuri, Nanded.

The primary objective of this program was to create awareness and provide essential life-saving skills to the participants so that they can effectively respond during medical emergencies. The training session was conducted under the expert guidance of Dr. Rajkumar Gite Sir, who demonstrated the correct techniques of performing CPR through practical sessions.

During the program, detailed information was provided on how to handle emergency situations such as cardiac arrest, unconsciousness, accidents, and other critical health conditions. Dr. Gite explained step-by-step procedures for administering CPR, maintaining airway, checking pulse, and providing immediate assistance before professional medical help arrives.

The participants were also educated about various first aid measures that can be applied in day-to-day emergencies, including handling injuries, controlling bleeding, and providing basic care to patients in distress. The practical demonstrations helped the attendees gain confidence and clarity in applying these techniques effectively.

This training program proved to be highly informative, practical, and beneficial for all attendees. It enhanced their ability to respond promptly and responsibly in emergency situations, thereby contributing to a safer and more prepared community.
